Art Unit: 1647

This application was restricted in an Office action mailed 9/4/2002. In response to that requirement, applicants elected Group I, claims 1, 3, 5 and 7. In view of the lack of written description and enablement, the invention was not further restricted with respect to specific sequences, as no meaningful search could have been performed. In the Office Action mailed 12/18/2002, the Examiner rejected all claims as being indefinite under 35 U.S.C. §112, second paragraph, and under 35 U.S.C. §112, first paragraph, both as lacking adequate written description, and as lacking enablement.

In the response filed 5/20/2003, applicants introduced a sequence listing. The CRF was defective, and a notice of such was sent. Applicants responded on 7/31/2003 with a readable CRF. As the claims now recite fifteen distinct sequences, which sequences are searchable, additional restriction within Group I is now proper and required, as set forth below.

Prior to setting forth the restriction requirement, the Examiner notes that although the transmittal papers accompanying the sequence submissions state that the amendment introduced no new matter, the Examiner is not persuaded of such, as (a) no sequences appear in the specification as originally filed, (b) Tables 1-3 contain far more than 15 listings (of genes or strains, not specific sequences) such that there is no obvious correlation, and (c) the submission does not explain in any way where the 15 newly submitted sequences find basis in the specification as originally filed. Applicants are encouraged to specifically point out the basis for the newly introduced sequences in their response, in order to allow compact prosecution (insofar as possible) and potentially avoid a new matter rejection.

Election/Restrictions

Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

One specific sequence with SEQ ID NO:., i.e. select one sequence from SEQ ID NO:1 to 15 must be elected.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Although there are no provisions under the section for "Relationship of Inventions" in M.P.E.P. § 806.05 for inventive groups that are directed to different products, restriction is deemed to be proper because these products constitute patentably distinct inventions for the following reasons. Each of SEQ ID NOs is a unique and separately patentable sequence, requiring a unique search of the prior art. Searching all of the sequences in a single patent application would constitute an undue search burden on the examiner and the USPTO's resources because of the non-coextensive nature of these searches. Although the claims are directed to a method of identifying an agent that modulates an FSH or FSH Mimietic influenced cellular process or response (as clearly demonstrated by the PCT/ISA/206 submitted by applicants), the generic method is not an advance over the prior art, but rather the patentability of the method rests upon the specific sequence being detected.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.
